

1. Reforming the unnecessarily expensive way health care is delivered in our country, shifting from treating people whose health is failing to preventing their health from failing in the first place.
2. Exploring how to provide an affordable public health care option for people who are not covered by employer plans.
3. Writing important federal health care standards into state law, in case the Trump administration or Congress rolls back standards at the federal level.
4. Lowering the cost of prescription drugs.
5. Addressing the opioid crisis, expanding access to treatment and prevention.
6. Long-term health care for our aging population.
7. Tobacco access by minors.
